

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, JUNE 4.

There is a rumor in Washington that the Pope will bestow the golden rose on Mrs. Caldwell, who gave $300,000 to the new Catholic University. It is a mark of distinction shown to women who have rendered great service to the Roman church. The wife of General Sherman is the only American woman that has ever received it.

A young woman of Denver was married not long ago to a soldier stationed at Fort Union, New Mexico. After the marriage he returned to his post and she remained her duties as a domestic in a Denver family. A few nights ago she, while sitting in the kitchen, was startled by several distinct raps upon the window. Looking up she saw the face of her husband peering at her. Calling, she found no one on the outside; and then she fainted. The sequel is that she has received a telegram stating that her husband had died at Union just about the hour when she saw his face at the window.

In speaking of the wealth of some of the ancients, says a writer in the New Orleans Times-Democrat, you class Titus, the wealthiest at $115,125,000, and give that of Cincinnatus, the Lydian, at about $8,000,000. You have not mentioned one wealthier than them all, who was Pythius, son of Aty, the Lydian, who possessed in silver and gold together $25,516,000, which, added to his possession of land and slaves at a proportionate value, would swell his wealth to about $300,000,000. A megalomaniac at the time of the late war, he reckoned at the value of state securities it would give him in coin $6,036,000, and with slaves and lands in proportion, a wealth of over $120,000,000. This man Pythius, without touching his silver and gold, entertained at the City of Corinth the army of Xerxes, and gave 5,000,000 stanzas, in the invasion of Greece, and on a previous occasion made King Darius, Xerxes' father, a magnificent present—a golden plane tree and vine. This Pythius, then, was the wealthiest man in the world, and it is doubtful if there has been any one before or since to equal him.

"Hard Money" Tom Nichol is attempting to form a company for the construction of a bridge across the river. The bridge is to be forty feet wide and are to be on a single track supported above existing railroad tracks. Mr. Nichol claims that a speed of 200 miles an hour can thus be attained, and that the journey from New York to San Francisco can be made in a day. He will probably form a combination with the locomotive man.

The foregoing item is going the round of the press. A good many people who do not know Mr. Nichol will naturally be very incredulous on the question of his patent car going 200 miles an hour. But that is nothing for Tom Nichol. He came out to New York to establish a great banking house on simply his "reputation" and his "name" when he didn't have a dollar in the world. I don't know any man who can do this. He also went to Missouri several years ago to found a city and construct a railway on $100,000. For further particulars inquire of Governor Dennison and Senator Sherman, of Ohio. So the country need not be surprised if Mr. Nichol should determine to send railway cars across the continent at the very good speed of 200 miles per hour.

UNIFORMITY IN LIQUOR TAXATION.

When Governor Hill, of New York, vetoed the Veder tax bill, his pretended objection was that the liquor taxation it proposed was not uniform. To make a pretense of supporting his objection to the bill, he made the statement that the liquor tax in other states was uniform in character. As this question is a very important one, the New York Tribune gives some facts from the laws of several states, with this result:

Arkansas has a state tax of $300, a county tax of $100, and local option for the counties. Wherever there is local option uniformity is obviously non-existent.

In Connecticut licenses are graded as follows: In towns of less than 3,000 population, $100 for all kinds of liquors and $50 for beer only; in other towns and cities, $100 to $50 for all kinds of liquors. The county commissioners regulate license fees in each county, and in towns of over 3,000 they are $200 for the sale of all kinds of liquor and $100 for beer, except in Middlesex county, where the fees are $300 for all kinds of liquors and $200 for beer only.

Florida has local option and the new constitution, and no uniformity.

Georgia has local option and special legislation for counties, but no uniformity.

Illinois is one of the states cited by the governor. The Harper High License law provides there. It fixes the minimum state tax at $500, and gives local authorities the right to raise the tax at discretion. There, while a saloon in Chicago may be taxed only $500, another in Peoria may be taxed $2,000, or any amount up to prohibition. This is one of the state liquor tax systems quoted by Governor Hill as an evidence of uniformity.

Massachusetts has six grades of licenses, ranging as follows: (1) from $100 to $1,000; (2) from $200 to $300; (3) from $300 to $500; (4) from $500 to $1,000; (5) from $1,000 to $2,000; (6) a druggist's license of $1. Besides this any city or town may have local option by a majority vote. The uniformity of this scheme of taxation is not conspicuous.

Michigan is another of the states cited by the governor. It has a state tax of $500 for all kinds of liquors and $300 for beer.

Minnesota does not bear out the executive dictum about the uniformity of liquor taxation. The new law fixes the tax at $1,000 for cities of 10,000 and over

BRAVING THE BAILIFFS.

DIFFICULTIES IN THE WAY OF EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.

Such Pleasantries as Hot Water and Bricks Showered at the Officers—Davitt's Dislike—Churchill's Advocates Economy—Glendon's Welcome in Wales—A Big German Enterprise Inaugurated.

DUBLIN, June 4.—At Ballykeally Friday the bailiffs, with a body of troops present, succeeded after much trouble and under a shower of hot water and bricks, in evicting Michael Davitt from his house. Davitt was present, and he and his supporters were compelled to retreat. Davitt was not allowed to enter his house, and he was driven back until at last the troops were ordered to let him enter the building at the next assault. Davitt was not allowed to enter his house, and he was driven back until at last the troops were ordered to let him enter the building at the next assault.

The fact is, Governor Hill was determined to kill the liquor taxation bill, and therefore founded his veto upon false premises. He is working for the saloon power, and was bound to find some excuse, however flimsy, for vetoing the Veder bill.

DEATH RATHER THAN HUMILIATION.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Siedhorf, of Union Hall, New Jersey, committed suicide by taking poison. The husband was ninety-one years old and the wife sixty. They had lived together nearly seventy years, and had met all sorts of changes that take place in the affairs of human life. But there was a decree of the fates in the lives of this aged couple which one can hardly understand. Mr. Siedhorf was a scholar and a man of science. He was a university graduate and a linguist of considerable ability. He had enough scholarship to fill him for almost any position requiring profound culture and wide learning. But somehow he didn't get on in the world, and the last years of his life were spent in abject poverty.

Last fall, though he was more than four score years and ten, he made some translations for the press, the money for which kept him and his wife in bread till this spring. When that was gone he knew not where to go for more, and the authorities came to the conclusion that he and his wife had better go to the poor house. This fact was communicated to the aged couple, and when they saw that this was the end of all things to them, they promised to die rather than suffer the humiliation of being separated in a poor house. Mr. Siedhorf then procured the necessary poison, each drank the bitter cup, and lay down together to die. They took the strongest poison known, and died quickly before any one could render assistance.

Before drinking the draught of death, Mr. Siedhorf wrote a letter explaining the motive of himself and wife in taking their own lives, and also stating to whom he wished his books, translations and autographs to go. There was a strange pathos about the letter, because it showed that an educated, refined, sensitive and affectionate husband and wife, who have lived together so long that their lives made but a single existence, could not be separated in a poor house. On no terms could they enter the almshouse as husband and wife, and there live together for the few remaining days of their lives, and it is no wonder that they chose death at once than the prolonged tragedy of separation in a poor house.

There is something radically wrong in a public institution which will, under the circumstances which surrounded Mr. Siedhorf and wife, force them to a separation or drive them to death. It was a heartless decree of hard-hearted and impracticable men, and wears the aspect of nothing less than brutality. It is very strange, too, that no man, or number of men, among the wealth of Union Hall, could be found to provide the very modest pension which would have sufficed to maintain this poor couple during their days together under a roof having some of the meaning of home to them.

Learning does not always mean success. There are over twenty university graduates engaged in very humble service in New York city, such as blowing boots, driving errand wagons, sweeping streets; and one of the men who came to this country with Carl Schurz and General Sigel, and graduated with them in Germany, is now a barber in the south. Mr. Schurz says he was the brightest scholar of the three, but like Mr. Siedhorf, he could never succeed.

Remarkable Cure of Lumbago.

DeWanna, Cal., Feb. 13, 1886. For nearly six years I suffered greatly with what the doctors called lumbago. I was unable to walk in that interval more than a few steps at a time, or to rise from a chair after once seated. I tried every remedy known to me, but to no avail. I was absolutely cured—cured so that from that day to this, nearly six months I have been able to work. O. M. Wicks.

DECLINE TO INTERFERE IN GREECE.

AMSTERDAM, June 4.—The powers have declined the invitation of Greece to interfere with Turkey in behalf of the inhabitants of Crete, to secure for them the reforms they demand, and the probabilities of a revolt in that island are daily increasing. The Ottoman government has refused to accept the invitation, and the powers have declined to accept the invitation.

Something Professor Stein Discovered. Berlin, June 4.—Professor Stein, the eminent political economist, issued a pamphlet showing the military importance to Great Britain of the Canadian Pacific railway, which, he says, has apparently been overlooked by the powers. He calls attention to the absolute independence of England at the event of a war with Russia, or any other European power, in the matter of using the Canadian railway, which she could ignore altogether and send her troops overland through Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Great Baltic Canal to Cost $10,000,000. Started. Bremen, June 4.—The ceremony attending the inauguration of the work of building the new Baltic canal, held at Kiel Friday, was very impressive. The Emperor William was present, and he was very much interested in the work.

LANDING ON THE HOLDING SEA SEIZURE.

Ottawa, Ont., June 4.—A copy of the dispatch from London to the British government on the 21st ult. regarding the seizure of three Canadian sailing schooners in the holding sea last August by the American revenue cutters, was laid before parliament Friday night. It occurs in the report of Minister of Marine, and recommends that the attention of the imperial authorities be directed to the grave injustice done by the United States government to the vessels while pursuing their lawful vocation on the high seas.

Everybody Welcomes Gladstone in Wales.

London, June 4.—Gladstone's presence in Wales was the occasion of a holiday Friday, which partook of a national character. In honoring the distinguished visitor the Tories of Swansea for once forgot that they were Tories and voted with the Liberals. The Liberal party in Swansea were very much interested in the work, and they were very much interested in the work.

More Strikes in Belgium.

Brussels, June 4.—The strikes, which were considered as nearly settled, since most of the mines and iron mills have started up again, have broken out again. No disturbance is reported, and as yet everything is peaceful. The new strike is undoubtedly the outcome of the passage of the law of 1886.

Another Labor Riot in Belgium.

Brussels, June 4.—A dispatch from Mons says that Friday afternoon a mob of striking miners gathered in front of the houses in which the socialist council is sitting at Jemappes, and, becoming demonstrative, refused to disperse when ordered to do so by the gendarmes. The troops charged upon the mob three times before they succeeded in driving them off, and several of the former were injured by stones and clubs. In the hands of the mob were wounded by bayonet thrusts, and many were arrested, among them being M. Pannan, a notorious anarchist leader.

Burns, the driver, went to the depot with the seven o'clock mail, and backed the wagon up onto one of the side-tracks just in time to be caught by an incoming train. Kindling wood was made of the wagon. No other damage.

—The funeral of little Francis J. Mahoney, the seven-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Neil J. Mahoney, of the first ward, who died yesterday at ten o'clock, was held at the family residence at three o'clock this afternoon, the service being attended by a large number of friends, who deeply sympathize with the bereaved parents in the loss of their darling babe.

—"That second ward school building," said commissioner Metcalf, "is positively unsafe. Whenever the wind blows it away and trembles until the teachers are afraid to remain. Part of the foundation has sunk until one side of the building is almost without support. Without question, it should be condemned, though I suppose that is not the school board's business so much as it is the common council's."

—Late yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Sterling against Ryan returned a verdict for the plaintiff, Sterling, who keeps a lodging house in Vernon county, sued for twelve hundred dollars, on board bills contracted by the men of William and Dennis Ryan. The Ryans live in Footville, and are railroad contractors. It was claimed that they agreed to be responsible for the bills, and that they deducted the amount from the men's wages. The case of Hodge against Ryan, now on trial, is another action of about the same kind.

—On the second day of the soldiers' re-union, at Sunbury, all members of the old Third regiment (Col. "Thoma" Ringer's) met for business, registration, and a social chat. Very many had not seen each other before since their muster out. It was a meeting long to be remembered. Their number was twenty-three. By unanimous vote it was decided to have a re-union of the regiment at Madison next year, the exact time to be determined by comrades E. O. Kimberley and B. M. Backlin, of Janesville, who will notify all, when the proper time comes.

—A report has been received from the Chicago Flower Mission showing that amount of good accomplished last season by that unpretending charity. Over 14,000 bouquets having been made up and distributed to the poor and sick in the hospitals and asylums of that city. This is an unassuming mission, being conducted from motives of pure charity. Let all the Sunday schools consider this an invitation to contribute. Common flowers, fragrant leaves, etc., together with literature will be very acceptable. It left at Walter Richards store yesterday, they will be packed and forwarded the express companies carrying such free of charge.

—Walter Helms' green house on South Main street has been the scene of unusual activity this week. Beginning Sunday and Monday so many blooming plants, bouquets, wreaths and baskets were sent out for Decoration day, that one would think there was not a flower left to be sold. Tuesday and Wednesday flowers were furnished for social gatherings, Thursday an elegant home was elaborately decorated with potted plants and choice flowers for a wedding; Friday a number of elegant bouquets and some choice roses were sent to Evansville for commencement exercises, and to-day a box of specimen fuschias were placed on exhibition at the store. Call and see them.

—"The Mastodons" have arranged a superb program for the benefit entertainment to be given at the opera house on Monday evening in aid of Messrs. Kay and Downs, and the patrons of the opera house on that evening will not only witness one of the best musical performances given in Janesville, but will be compensated to a worthy cause—that of giving substantial aid to two worthy but at this time unfortunate citizens, both having been stricken down by accident. The opera house should be crowded on Monday evening. A large number of tickets have already been disposed of and many more remain to be sold. Every one should purchase a ticket and help swell the amount of the cash benefit. Remember Monday evening and make arrangements accordingly.

—The benefit concert given by the young ladies of the W. O. T. U. at Apollo hall, was liberally patronized, and those who were present enjoyed a very pleasant entertainment. The programme, as published in last evening's Gazette, was followed, and was rendered in an exceptional manner. Those taking part were Misses Carrie and Helen Cogswell, Miss Blanche Kinney, Prof. E. E. Layton, Prof. O. R. Dahl and Mr. E. O. Kimberley. The singing by Misses Carrie and Helen Cogswell alone was well worth the price of admission to say nothing of "Nobody's Darling" rendered so prettily by Miss Blanche Kinney, and the parts taken by Mr. E. O. Kimberley, and Prof. Layton and Dahl. The bagpipe at the Wayside Inn at the close of this entertainment was a complete success, and a good beginning has been made towards paying for the Inn's show cases.

THE RACES.

JANESVILLE DRIVING PARK, JUNE 14th to 17th.

The trotting meeting to be given by the Janesville Driving Park association, to take place June 14th to 17th, will be not only far the best meeting ever held in Janesville, but it will be equal to any meeting ever held in the west. The entries in all classes are numerous and will reach nearly one hundred. The horses are an exceptional lot, and known to turfmen as strictly first class performers. Every race on the programme will be contested by horses that can beat $3.00. Among the celebrities will be found Belle F, with a record of 2:16 1/2. Arab the noted California horse, with a record of 2:17 1/2, driven by Orin Hickox. Hickox's stable will also contain half a dozen horses of national reputation. W. H. McCarthy, the skilful driver known as "Knappeck" sounded from having served as a gallant soldier in the Union Army, has one of the most numerous and among its members the fastest trotters and pacers to be found in the United States. Budd Doble and Peter V. Johnson, among the most noted and skilful drivers in America, will also be here. Among the fast ones in Peter Johnson's string will be found the local celebrity "Nestor" owned by Mr. Griffiths of our city. Our citizens will take pride and pleasure to see him a winner here. The Jefferson and Rock county favorite, Betsy Ann, driven by her owner, David Johnson, will give conclusions in the free for all. M. E. McHenry has already entered his stable of five noted horses—Eugene Road, will have Mary Sprague 2:21, Laura E., the handsome and fast young mare formerly owned by H. D. McKinney, and a green stallion that is a good one. At the stable at the track is the fast young Michigan mare Sierra La Salle in care of the accomplished driver, Philo Sweet. Three fast ones came in this morning and are now at the track in charge of and will be driven by Ed. Stitt. Ira Davis the horse made famous by winning the $10,000 purse at Hartford Conn., will be one of the contestants. We will give our readers a more extended account of the famous horses entered next week.

MORE ROOM WANTED.

And the School Board Decide to Add One Story to the Central Building.

Additional Grammar Schools. Next Year's Appropriation to be $13,000.

An Effort Made to Partly Re-deem the Third Ward Fire Trap.

EXTRA SESSION NEEDED.

The most important business before the school board last night, was the providing of additional rooms. All the commissioners were present. As a start, Commissioner Judd from the investigating committee, reported that a third story could be opened in the Central building for twelve hundred dollars. Tallman's laboratory could be secured for six hundred dollars a year but would hardly be satisfactory.

Commissioner Holloway thought the two rooms at the Central better than any thing else the board could find.

Commissioner Judd objected. The expense, he said, would be fifty twenty-five hundred dollars for the first year. By keeping children back another year until they were better prepared, the higher rooms might be relieved and the expense saved.

"As to keeping pupils back," remarked Professor Koyes, "just try it once and see what a hair-pulling there would be. Our pupils must be very thoroughly prepared or they cannot pass the examinations. To make them waste a year on what they already know would be a great injustice."

Commissioner Wilson was opposed to opening any more rooms until a new building could be built in the second ward. He thought that accommodations for a grammar department might be found in the fifth ward.

Commissioner Holloway claimed that to wait for a new building would throw nearly a hundred children out of school. He moved that two additional grammar departments be opened. The motion was carried, and both Commissioners Wilson and Judd voting aye.

The clerk was instructed to call on the council for not less than $1,200, to use in finishing the upper story of the central school building, and was authorized to have specifications prepared by the work.

He was also instructed to obtain the opinion of an architect on the feasibility of the repairs to be made.

The next matter to come up was the annual appropriation. It was decided at first to ask for $13,000. A motion from Commissioner Judd regarding fire escapes on the high school made one or two changes necessary and the amount was finally raised to $13,500.

Superintendent Keyser nominated Miss Annie Sheldon for the position left by Miss Mary Dandridge. The nomination was placed on file, action on it being put over until next meeting.

Clerk Metcalf reported that he had agreed to pay two dollars a year for the use of the Grand hotel pump by the Central school.

The janitors now employed at the school buildings were re-engaged for next year. Their salaries will be fixed as soon as the committee can report.

A change was made in the high school course of study so that hereafter only three subjects instead of four will be carried on by the pupils at one time. The subjects themselves will be chosen as before.

A special meeting of the board will be held June 17th. This will be to consider plans for altering the Central school, and also to vote diplomas to this year's graduates. Eleven of the class are already prepared, while the twelfth is likely to be very soon.

Ella Baker, of the Joe Murphy Conedy Company, writes: "Have used several bottles of Cuticura, and think it is preferable to anything of the kind I have ever used."

Credit is due the German women and physicians for first using Red Clover blossoms as a medicine. Best results are obtained when combined with other medicinal roots and herbs, as is Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which is the best known remedy for all blood diseases, stomach and liver troubles, pimples, skin diseases, indigestion, loss of appetite, nervousness, headache and all diseases of the kidneys. Price 50 cents of Postoffice & Evanson, opposite postoffice.

Modjeska, Jefferys-Lewis, Viola Allen, Maggie Mitchell, and many other celebrities, use Cuticura. As an application for preserving the skin from any injury effects of grease paints, powders or cosmetics, it is unequalled.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 71 degrees above zero. Light local shower with south wind. At 11 o'clock p. m., the register was 55 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For corresponding hours next year ago the register was 54 and 55 degrees above zero.

Belle Melville, of Windsor Theatre, N. Y., writes: "Cuticura produced the promised effect, and has given entire satisfaction."

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB.

Don't forget to attend the monthly meeting of the Business Men's Club on Monday evening, June 6th. It is expected that one or two shares of billiard table stock will be paid. Other matters of importance will also be attended to. All members are earnestly requested to be present. O. F. NOWLAN, Pres.

From Joseph Murphy, the popular comedian: "I have used Cuticura with the most favorable results. It is certainly the best article of its kind I ever used."

Fairbanks Soaps are received in every family with great favor.

SITUATION.

BAILEY A. FARMLEY.

At the residence of his parents, near Hebron, Nebraska, May 15th, 1887, of hemorrhage of the brain, Bailey A. Farmley, aged 27 years, 8 months and 15 days. Few young men possessed more pleasant social qualities than the deceased. Bright, genial and accomplished, honest, earnest and true, he gave promise of a useful and successful career. But as the early frost often takes the most beautiful blossoms, so "death leaves a shining mark," and from our midst often takes the brightest and best.

The winter esteemed him highly for his many agreeable and companionable qualities, and early realized that from the community, the social circle, the home and the possibilities of an honored career, one has gone who has left many to mourn his departure. —Hebron, (Nebraska) Journal.

—Mr. O. E. Wilcox has returned from California, where he spent the winter. While on the Pacific slope he was engaged in the real estate business, and rumor says that he usually came out on top.

THOUGHTS ABOUT TOWN.

In the windows of our millinery establishments are seen bright garlands of ribbons, and the soft golden sheen of satin lappets overhanging delicate clusters of flowers, roses and apple blossoms and daisies some of which are so velvety and realistic that they seem to whisper of shady nooks and leafy coverts. Others are so ungracious in their stiff outlines and unnatural hues and shadings, especially the straw colored monstrosities and steel and gilt ornaments with their snake like brilliancy, that we turn away with a longing for emancipation from the stern dictates of fashion.

"Are Janesville ladies extravagant in their millinery expenditures?" We asked a leading milliner yesterday. "No, indeed," was the reply. "Some of our wealthiest ladies are the most economical. We sell a dozen cheap bonnets to one expensive one. Now here is a beauty for $12. Perhaps you would like it," and she held up temptingly an airy fash like combination of blossoms and filmy lace delicate enough to float away like down on a summer breeze. Of course in the dialect of old Vermont "we liked" but alas, for the prosaic limitations of economy.

From flowers and furbelows to funeral associations is a sudden transition of thought, but life is made up of contrasts. We happened yesterday afternoon to be journeying along through the city with close proximity to the commodious street car which leaves the Myers house for the cemetery at regular intervals.

We were all eyed and sympathetic, amply supplied with pocket handkerchiefs, and had not the remotest intention of engaging in flippant comments or seeming irreverent, but there was apparently no demand for tears of sympathy. They were a motley crowd and despite their solemn destination, every face betokened a thorough appreciation of the beauties of the afternoon and the exhilarating atmosphere fresh from recent showers. They looked for all the world like a party of pleasure seekers out for a day's jaunt, towards the last resting place of friends who have reached the end of the route from which there is no return.

A piquant, dark eyed widow chatted gaily with her companion, exchanging coquettish greetings with friends passing by, apparently forgetful of the cloud that lay over her life, but left no more trace upon her heart than the shadow of a floating cloud upon a summer meadow.

A group of young people in the front of the car, evidently working girls, enjoyed an outing after a week's close confinement, did not hesitate to onlive their chat with merry laughter only slightly subdued. But near the end of the route their gay tongues were hushed and a silence fell upon the occupants of the car as they entered the shadows of the oaks and evergreens. Beneath the superficial flow of gaiety was after all an undercurrent of sadness and sympathy with sorrow. It was almost sunset when we passed through the gates and ascended the grassy hills beyond. Happy are they who can realize that death is but the opening of a gate leading to the eternal hills of rest; but the dropping of the flower that the fruit may swell and expand. Homeward bound just after sunset, a young man passed us in the suburbs, reeling with intoxication, a young man, almost a boy. Reach out your hands oh, temperance workers. Open wide the doors of your Wayside Inn. Be not content with gathering in a group of young men from good families having few temptations, but go out into the highways for the wanderers. The wise shepherd careth more for the sheep that are astray than for all that are in the fold.

It's to your interest to know that Fairbank's Soaps are cheapest and best.

TAKE NOTICE.
